

A series of horizontal lines forming a writing template. The lines are arranged in groups of three, with a gap between each group. The template is designed for writing a story or message.

